

YOUR GOODBYE

It was just about yesterday that I heard the news
I didn't know quite what to say or the words to choose
I guess I've fallen from the lines, I guess I've fallen out of favor
But I hope that you don't mind that it's the good times I think about and savor

Cause it's just a laugh, a memory of funny lines
And it's just a photograph from a happier time
And it's just an act, playing out on my mind
And with just a mask, I'm facing your goodbye

All the leaves bloomed in spring and honeysuckle filled the air
The fallen tree must surely ring because this all happened though you're not here
And the sun came up, I guess I knew it would
But though I nodded in assent, I don't think I understood

Cause it's just a laugh, a memory of funny lines
And it's just a photograph from a happier time
And it's just an act, playing out on my mind
And with just a mask, I'm facing your goodbye
With a mask I'm facing your goodbye

Instrumental

Have you found where the rivers meet and all your dear run free?
If you get a chance send me a peek, you know I've always wondered what it must be
And all I've got's this stupid song, I know it ain't much
But all the chords seem to go along, and nothing could ever be enough
For your goodbye